Blenker Building Systems Recognized as a BCMC Build Hero!

Madison, WI— Blenker Building Systems has donated $5000 to support the BCMC Build 2011 project. "Our company has a strong commitment to charitable service and giving back to the communities we help build," said Blenker co-owner and President, Jason Blenker. "BCMC Build is all about giving back to our host community."

This year, BCMC Build will partner with Habitat for Humanity of Greater Indianapolis to build two single family homes—a one-story and a two-story home. The lots reserved for BCMC Build are located within a block of each other. "Through BCMC Build, we will have the opportunity to showcase the efficiency and reliability of component construction," said Blenker.

In the end, two families will benefit directly from this project by receiving newly constructed homes. These homes can be constructed quickly because they will be assembled using structural building components. These highly-engineered products, including roof trusses, wall panels and floor components, maximize material usage and are easy to install.

"BCMC Build reminds everyone structural building components are the backbone of America's homes," said Blenker. "We look forward to being part of this event, and constructing two homes that will shelter two Indianapolis families for generations."

Blenker Building Systems, Inc. and Envision. Home at last...® are a dynamic team of companies that prides itself on innovation and customer service. Blenker provides a complete wood framed structural building system for today's builder, including floor trusses, I-joists, wall panels, roof trusses, and on site labor. A complete building solution is the strength of Envision, by providing not only the structural frame erected on a builder's foundation, but a complete package of building materials including: windows installed into factory built wall panels, entry doors, roofing, siding, interior millwork, cabinets, countertops, and hardware.
